NOTE RE “RSVP DATES” FOR EVENTS

Most events, particularly those where restaurant bookings are being made, have RSVP dates. Thank-you to the majority of members who advise the event host prior to the cut-off date. Late bookings create extra work for the event organizer – and the event venue – so please take careful note of the RSVP date. (Be aware that event organizers may not be able to take late bookings).

Please remember to advise the host if you book for an event and then find you need to cancel.

SATURDAY 23 June 8.00pm for 8.15pm	MALVERN THEATRE : Morning Sacrifice By Dymphna Cusack Directed by Loretta Bishop First performed in 1942 ‘Morning Sacrifice’ has since become a classic of Australian theatre. It is set over a three day period in the staff room of Easthaven Girls’ High School in Sydney and exposes the narrow minded education system of the 1930’s. It centres on the increasing bitter struggle within a group of teachers, a mix of conservatives and progressives, over the fate of a senior student accused of immoral behavior, where expulsion will destroy the student’s chance of going to university. A fascinating study in day-to-day routine which is stripped away to reveal a hall of horrors, built on hypocrisy.
